How can you describe Mr. Walker? So many words come to mind. Generous, dedicated, personable, charismatic, and fair are just the beginning. He has been serving the students of Littleton High School for thirty-two years. He has suffered six years with the class of '94, yet he still comes to our aid whenever we ask for help. There are very few people in the world who can deal with their own children and not go insane let alone four hundred rebellious teenagers. Nevertheless, Mr. Walker dedicates his time and effort every day to making each student's educational experience as rewarding as it can be. A small school is like a family, and in our school Mr. Walker plays the perfect father figure, kind and caring. So, as he takes his place along side the graduation procession in saying farewell to Littleton Jr. Sr. High School, we are saddened in knowing the school will never be the same.

The class of 1994 would like to offer our most sincere thanks and best wishes and assure John Walker that his mark will have a lasting effect on all Littleton's graduates, past and present.

Shades of One - Many "battles" were fought in order to come to this final decision. This in itself showed the diversity of the Class of '94. The entire class voiced their own individual opinions which encompassed a whole gamut of ideas and beliefs. A class usually describes a whole body or prescribed order, but the Class of 1994 introduced the school to a variety of beliefs, styles, and mannerisms. This is perhaps the most objective reason for choosing this title. In everyday school life in our class's hallway, one can see the shades of artists, rebellious and reckless youth, musicians, academic students, and athletes, but when encountering many events, these shades combine to form an electrifying spectrum. Our class unified as one to win Spirit Week during our Junior year and also to creatively design various successful bulletin boards. In addition, we collectively decided to remain silent and demonstrated the class's personality during a Pep Rally. We are one as a class, but individually we are not the same; we have voiced our individual beliefs and most certainly have made an everlasting impact on the faculty, students, and the entire school for many years to come.

And with these ideas, we have constructed a book that represents not only our class and the individuals who are a part of it, but perhaps represents students of many of the classes in Littleton. The pictures and words are only things that we use to recall the hazy memories from kindergarten to our senior year.

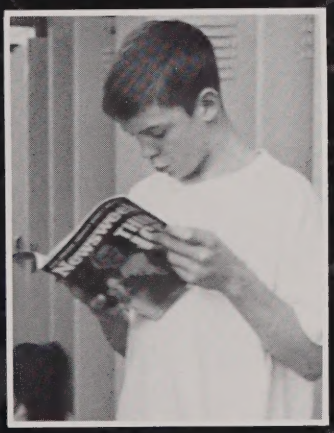
STUDENT LIFE

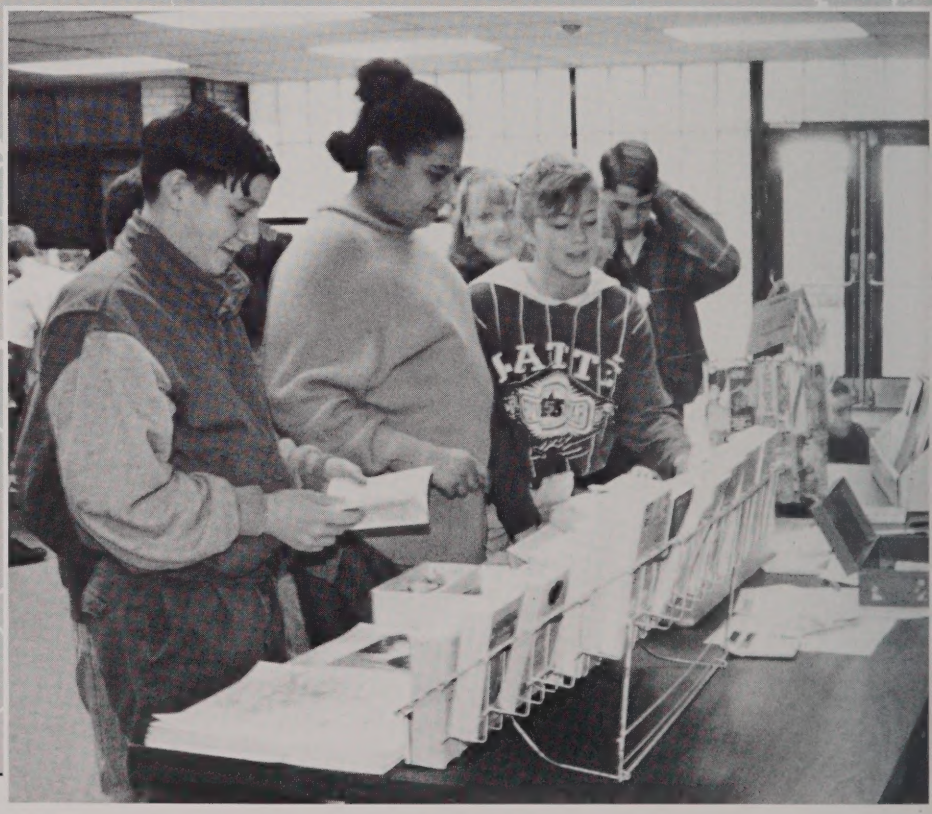
A LITTLE LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT



Student Life reflects the every day school life in Littleton. A student's life is never easy . Between studying, worrying about tests, and who's going out with whom, students here also hold down jobs and play sports. Students also have worries about transition to into this school and then again out of it, PSAT's and SAT's as well. The older students look towards college and vocational schools, while other students just worry about when the next snow day will come. With all worries aside, the students still find time to give a smile or two , which are captured and highlighted in this section of Student Life.

"We really are friends!" Nate Long puts Karen Lyons's and Jasmine McArthur's heads together.

Jill Tumber: "Look, I can reach the top!"



Marie Brown and Toni Julio make their final decisions as to which books to purchase at the book fair.

SAY CHEESE!

Exchange student Tatyana Lyzhina looks up from her studies.

Jon McCumber, as Hugo, is deep in thought about the loss of his girlfriend Kim to Conrad Birdie.

We love you Conrad! Will that ever get out of our heads? With many rehearsal hours and lots of fun, we turned Bye Bye Birdie into one of the hottest musicals LHS has ever seen. We will never forget The Telephone Hour, One Last Kiss, or A Lot of Livin' . And of course the successful Put on a Happy Face - let's do it one more time dancers! The play was as much as an exciting experience for the cast as well as it was for the audience. Both were laughing over the hip-swinging Conrad Birdie, played by Dave Slarskey, Mrs. Peterson (Emily Knee or Julie Tratneyk) sitting in the trash can, and Brandon Rigoli delivering Mr. Macafee's big speech. Then there were Jeanne Dennehy and Lisa Winner as Rosie doing their hot Spanish Rose. We all knew the words by the end. From cheering when Albert, Erik Leavitt, caught the suitcase, to dancing and singing our hearts out in A Lot of Livin', we created an experience to remember forever. Many thanks to Mrs. Granata and Mr. Foley from the cast!

Bye-Bye Birdie

April 7-9, 1993

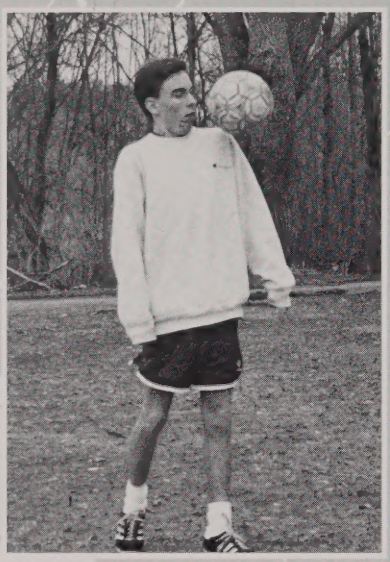
Kim McAffee and friends fret over news of Conrad Birdie's enrollment with the Army: Sarah Miller, Katie Foley, Joanna Kotze, Alison Sager, Rachel Clifford.

Kim McAffee, played by Joanna Kotze, is shocked when she receives a phone call that she is going to meet the famous celebrity Conrad Birdie on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Spirit/Culture Week 1993

Rachel Jansky carefully paints her Ukrainian Egg.

Andy Struth's soccer skills came in handy while supporting his class in field events.



Since the introduction of Global Studies into our school, many things have changed. But one thing we couldn't live without: Spirit Week, a whole week before spring vacation dedicated to building school and class spirit and morale. But we have to be globally aware now, so we introduced Cultural Week as a new component of our activities.

With every grade having a continent, and a country, we learned a lot about our world. The class of '93 gave us Europe and decorated their hall as Holland. The class of '94 showed us India, having the continent of Asia. The great beaches of Jamaica filled the class of '95 hall, and a huge pyramid stood in the lobby done by the class of '96. The class of '97 went to South America and tried to save the rain forest. And class of '98 journeyed down under and decorated the gym hall to the country of Australia.

To start our festivities, we had an opening ceremony modeled after the Olympic ceremonies. Then throughout the week we all had Dress-Up Day, Color Day based on our country's flag colors, and a dance at the end of the week.

We competed in softball, volleyball, and tug-of-war, while presenting new activities such as Tangrams, Ukrainian egg decorating, and the internationally know game, Bocce. The class of '96 was the overall winner, but each class enjoyed its own small victories.

Simon Says put your hands in the air: Amy Harland, Rachel Clifford and Kate Davis play in the Simon Says finals.

Homecoming 1993

Don Fetterhoff pours water into Jason Burgess's waiting thermos. Matt Cerullo waits his turn to refill while Rich Zolla waits for the game to resume play.

Co-captain Deena Freitas and Christie DelleDonne cheer for the Tigers for a game well played.

The band gets ready to play another song to cheer on the team.

Joanna Kotze is called down from the bleachers as the Senior member of the court.

Cotillion 1993

Abbe Knee and Greg Sloboda slow dance while older brother John Sloboda and Tatyana Lyzhina look on.

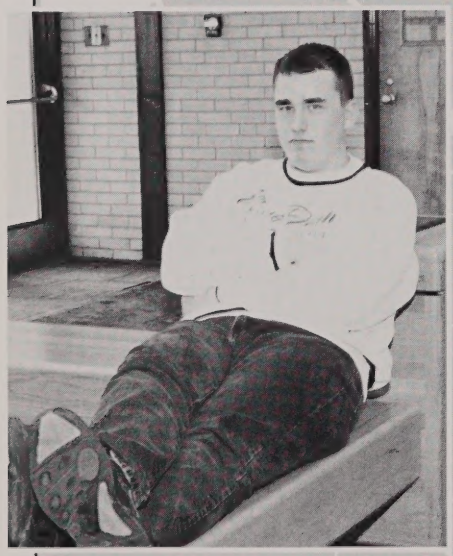
According to Matt Ellis, Dave Slarskey, Todd Ehwa, John Sloboda, Charlie Lentz, Greg Sloboda, and Dave Durkin, it's boys night out.

Two of Littleton's beauties Joanna Kotze and Jasmine McArthur admire the Cotillion decorations.

Cara Thompson and Abbe Knee put on some happy faces in the cafeteria.



Jon Snyer: "What...me?...kicked out of IA again?...Never!"

Liz Johnson greets Mr. Walker with a big smile while accepting her second year NHS gift.

Matt Ellis, Scott Dressel, Taryn Skillings and Brenda Dunn just hanging around.

Rob Kellerman and Sarah Miller hang out in the ski lodge at Mt. Wachusett.

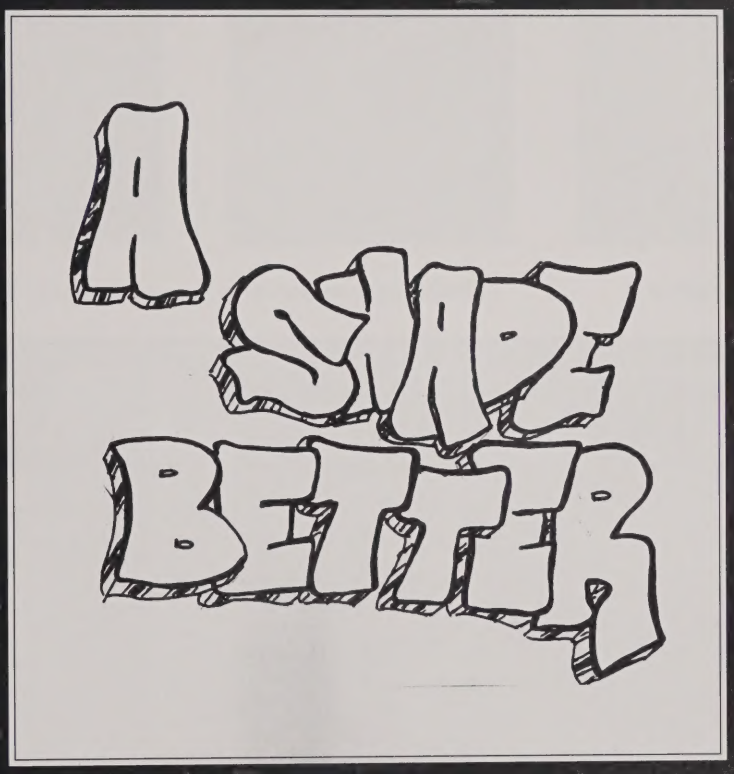
SENIORS

Is Eric Winslow still able to smile after a full day of classes?



The kings of the school! The people who seventh through eleventh graders look up to. Twelve years of homework, tests, and grades finally come to an end. The senior class of 1994 is the first class to complete a full six years at LJSHS. Many seniors will eventually miss Littleton and all it stands for in their lives. In the senior section many special moments are recorded on camera and presented here for you.

Dave D.

David,

We are all so very proud of you. Stay true to all you know is right and good. Keep a sense of humor and remember:

This is the Best Day

Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year. He is rich that owns the day, and no one owns the day who allows it to be invaded with fret and anxiety.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities, no doubt, crept in. Forget them as soon as you can, tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely, with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense.

This new day is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the yesterdays.

CLASS OF 94

I, Shala Donnelly, leave Siobhan all the love in the world and a medium- sized green-haired troll.

I, Charles Lentz, leave Miss Lordan all my missing homework.

I, Todd Ehwa, leave Mrs. Beasley my misled students to keep my jokes alive forever.

I, David Slarskey, leave the glory of God and the inspiration of eternity to our nation of corrupt, immoral, hell-bound youths.

I, Travis G. Knupp, leave scott free.

I, Michael Crory, leave my two brothers, Danny and Brian, all my good looks and all the girls that never had an opportunity to be with me, for them.

I, Samantha Sladowsky, leave with perfect attendance.

I, Julie Tratnyek, leave "For long you live and high you fly and smiles you'll give and tears you'll cry and all you touch and all you see is all your life will ever be" to my daisy girl, Cara Jean.

I, Tatiana Smith, leave the broken tree at Cumbie's.

I, Karen Masson, leave my friends to decide who should drive to places over the weekend and for them to decide what to do.

I, Chris Hinckley, leave my keys to the gym to whomever feels worthy of them.

I, Deena Freitas, leave the cheerleaders Best of Luck.

I, Elysa Kenger, leave next year's yearbook editor, a large bottle of Pepto Bismol.

I, Scott Dressel, leave the past for the future, the present for the past and the future for the present - and lots of sweet chewy candy for all.

I, Bethany K. Benoit, leave Ben Andrews something to remember.

I, Lily t. Potter, leave the soccer players-football techniques; Mr. Harhen-the best students ever; and all my friends: 3 wishes!

I, Bobbi Downs, leave to all who read this verse: "Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enought trouble of its own" - Matthew 6:34

I, Loan Pham, leave Jessica Shimmel a new pair of tires to get to Finch.

I, John Sloboda, leave a hooded warbler and a package of bang snaps to no one but everyone.

I, Kelly McGrath, leave Sarah McGrath the use of Bessy while I'm away.

I, Dave Ziegler, leave my cat Braindead to Ben Andrews to take care of.

I, Mike Hayes, leave knowing that I will never have to do another squat thrust again.

I, Greg Bittner, leave Abigail Knee all the grape soda and Cheez-its she can eat.

I, Melissa Giaimo, leave my keys to whoever stole them.

I, Tanya Lyzhina, leave everything that's not gonna fit in my suitcase.

I, Rose DiLuzio, leave Joanna alone on stage.

I, Zak Hirtle, leave Jasmine McArthur Matt's purple fuzzy thing.

I, Matt Ellis, leave Matt Cerullo tons of free subs, hanging out with buds, and America, love it or leave it.

I, Nathan Cantino, leave a mural, a sister, and a brother.

I, Joanna Kotze, leave Oak Hill to the track team and a compass to the field hockey team.

I, Jeppe Lange, leave seagulls, cars, TV, and move in June, to go home to stone-age Denmark. See you later, alligator.

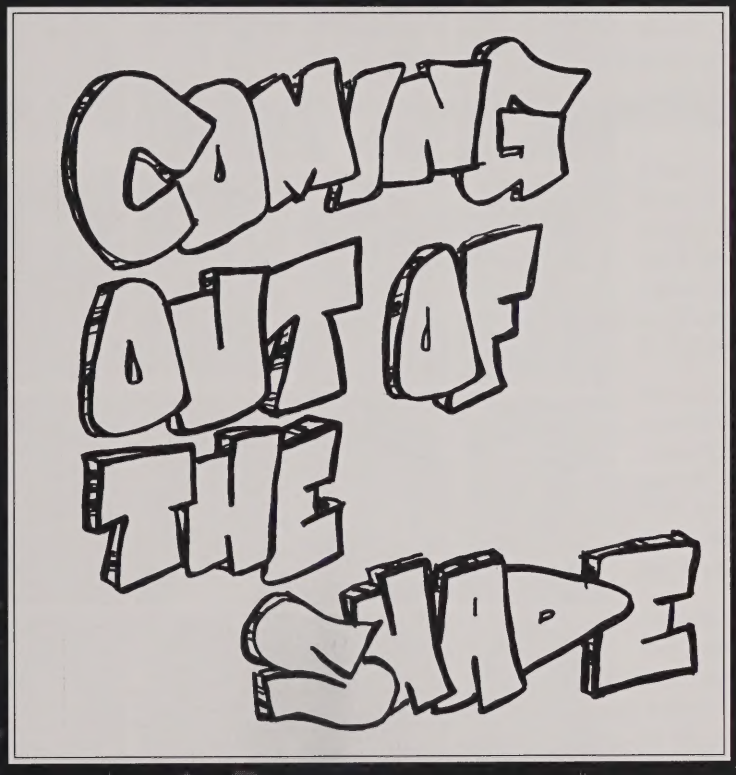
UNDERCLASS



"Come on, Tracy Kalukiewicz, show us those pearly whites."

Hustling about to classes, sharing lockers, and moving up in status are many experiences underclassmen encounter. The new seventh graders make the big transition to junior high school. Eighth graders pick levels for the following year. Ninth graders prepare for SAT's with PSAT's . Tenth graders worry about their quickly approaching junior year and "the critical"! Finally, the juniors look forward to just one more year until they become the seniors and the whole package that comes with it. Every class has its own worries and problems and highlights of many of them are captured here in the Underclass section.

This year the Eighth Graders went to Boston to see a selection of plays that were based on famous short stories: "The Fall of the House of Usher," "The Ransom of Red Chief," "The Most Dangerous Game," "The Mouse," and "The Incident at Owl Creek Bridge." With the seventh grade we held the annual Student Council magazine drive. Money brought in by the drive was contributed to the Beacon Santa, Lowell Sun Santa, The Bea Gaddy Homeless Shelter, the Eighth Grade field trip to Boston, and many other causes. Academically, we studied Greek gods and the different myths and legends in which they appear. In some of the other literature classes we learned abou the Holocaust and read The Diary of Anne Frank. Also enjoyed were trips to the Museum of Science and Canobie Lake Park.

Class of 1997

In the past year, the Class of '96 has faced many obstacles in the quest for excellence, the greatest of these being the loss of our previous class president and a near complete change of class officers from our freshman year. Even though our first fundraiser as sophomores was...not as successful as we may have liked (cotton candy anyone?!!), we showed our class unity and spirit by rebounding to have many successful fundraisers, including our second annual car wash, building our treasury even stronger, and by coming together as a class to defend our spirit week championship from last year. And we all know who was really the loudest class at the Homecoming pep-rally!

Also as sophomores, our class greatly helped the school sports program, being the majority on many varsity sports teams. This shows a promising future for our athletic program. We also made a "splash" by introducing the first ever female wrestler to the school.

We didn't really run into many new things this year except maybe chemistry, which some of us will have to run into again next year. And, of course, we learned about law and economics and stuff, too.

Most of us now had our permits or licenses while some of us were still waiting (freedom was on the way).

Our class continued to grow, adding more and more students throughout the year.

Congratulations to those class members who helped bring the Boys' Soccer Team to a league championship and to Amanda Olsen for being on the Homecoming Court. Stevie and Amanda...still going. Also, Mr. Legault and Ms. Marsh, thank you for helping us through another year. Be excellent to one another.

Juniors

As you look through the pages of our high school career, you will realize how much each and everyone of us has grown. We have been through many things together, and each seems to be an entity to the other. In our junior year we realize that soon we'll part. We will all go our separate ways into this vast world we have yet to conquer. The images of these years together will be forever embedded upon our memorles.

The first quilt we made and raffled off at our first annual table at the bazaar freshman year, when we painted the fans' faces at Homecoming sophomore year, and our prom this year are just a few of the memories that will stand out in our minds forever. These will always be "...like glimpses of forgotten dreams" (Tennyson). We will always remember them in the backs of our minds and the bottoms of our hearts, and one day in searching through the past, keep thinking that the next stages in our lives are beginnings, not endings.

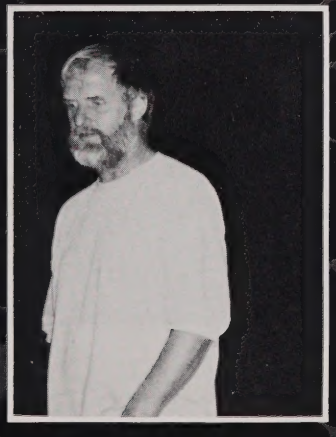
FACULTY

SHADES OF EXCELLENCE



Grading important papers, teaching, and chalky hands are all part of what goes into being a teacher. The teachers here at LHS are among the brightest, who give it their all devoting time and effort into teaching each individual student. Besides the teachers, there are also the behind-the- scenes people that make sure lunches are served and the school is clean, and we can't forget the two men and their office staff who make the whole show run everyday. Each and every faculty member plays a very important role in the school system. In this section the entire staff will be shown.

This year was marked by many changes in the curriculum. One of the most notable was the addition of a high ropes course. Mr. Legault uses the low and high ropes with his classes at the beginning of the year to develop a sense of unity. Also, each grade has a designated day to use the ropes course to promote class spirit. Finally, the ropes were used by Peer Leadership prior to their retreat in order to gain a feeling of trust. The experience of completing of the of the elements is no less than exhilarating. Standing at an incredible height with your classmates below you, cheering and encouraging you to keep going, promotes a feeling of self-confidence and camaraderie that has no match.

As the world moves deeper into the "Computer Age," so does Littleton Jr. Sr. High. The stoves and refrigerators of the Home Economics room have been replaced by twenty-seven computers each equipped with programs ranging from MicroSoft Works, Aldus SuperPaint 3.0, and Alge-Blaster to File Exchange and the SAT Trainer. Each day 120 students use the tech lab for class work and personal projects. Mr. Richmond has taught many students and teachers how to use this new technology to make their lives easier. While English classes are typing papers, students from study use drawing programs to create masterpieces or work on their own assignments.

The additions to the school haven't been just the ditions of things; we have added many new faculty members. When Mr. Smith retired this year, many of the niors worried about getting the appropriate recommendations from a guidance counselor that had only known em for a few months. But they hadn't met John Rahilly yet. His efforts to know everyone in such a short period time were rewarded. He spent countless hours researching schools, talking to students about their plans, and iting numerous recommendations. In addition to fulfilling his counselor obligations. he became the advisor the ski racing team as well as one of the chaperones of the Friday ski trips to Mt. Wachusett. Another new ember of the faculty is Mr. Moriarty—the replacement for Mr. Michaud who retired last spring. Mr. Moriarty aches several classes including Physics I and II and seventh grade science. With his numerous demonstrations d easy-going attitude, he makes learning about science and its practical applications easy and enjoyable. His w ideas are sure to be a wonderful asset to the science department. This year Mr. Caragianes joined the growing culty at Littleton Jr. Sr. High. He teaches classes from seventh grade English to the Senior Social Issues class. sides devoting time to school he has been elected to City Council in Lowell. With his credentials, Mr. ragianes is an asset to the entire school.

As Harold MacMillan said, "...the winds of change are blowing through this continent". As the wind blew then, now blows through our town and our school. Each class coming into our school is getting larger. This year's venth grade class has over eighty students compared with the senior class that has only around fifty. Our faculty e is growing as is the school itself. With new technology comes the need for adjustments by the administration, culty, and students.

- Elysa Kenger

strating his unique teaching style, Mr. Moriarty demonstrates wton's Laws of Motion by sandwiching himself between two beds nails and further subjecting himself to a concrete block and Mr. rbett's sledge hammer.

"We are a competitive baseball team again!

Coach Fitzpatrick

The '93 baseball season got off to a slow start due to the two feet of snow left on the ground. Some of the team's first practices were spent going to the field with shovels in hand, clearing off the plate. The team's early record reflected these conditions when the Tigers lost four out of their first six games. The turnaround began with a 29-3 win over Murdock,. Two other big wins were against Maynard (3-2) and Narragansett (7-2).

The loss of seniors PJ Beagan, Ken Hamm, Jason Pierce, and Mike Quinn may present a problem, but the future still looks bright. The J.V. team consisted primarily of freshmen, so Coach Fitzpatrick and Coach McAndrews are hoping for even better seasons for '94.

"Fundamentally we did well, mental errors were way down, but we just couldn't make the big play when it was needed."
Coach Knox

Varsity softball practice began early in the '93 season even though many games were postponed because of the feet of snow still covering the ground, while practice remained inside. The coaching staff gathered the potential catchers and pitchers from all levels to work with. Of course, this area improved with much dedication, time, and plentiful help from Coach Shepple. Coach Knox helped us achieve more wins than usual and broadened our abilities and perspectives on the game. Maybe we could earn more cokes per each non-scoring inning! We thoroughly enjoyed our season and looked forward to another egg fight. We knew we would miss Kim Knox and the graduating seniors including Liz Dixon, Jocelyn Cascio, Laura Demetrick, Leigh Dungey and Sandy Johnson. We couldn't wait for another win over the number one team and many more trips to Kimballs!!!

Spring of '93 found long distance runners, sprinters, throwers, and jumpers eagerly awaiting the start of the season but delayed by inclement weather and an ice-covered useless track. Not to worry, Coach Lynn rescued the team with indoor aerobics, and Coach Harhen with indoor drills and events. Although Coach Harhen was slightly concerned about the young ages, especially the girls, having no seniors, he was confident they'd overcome.

As soon as the weather cleared up and the track became usable, the team ran ladders, many laps, lifted, and arduously journeyed to the infamously known Oak Hill. The hard work and assiduity led to a very strong team. Girls, strong overall, finished up the season with 7 wins and 3 losses. The boys, with strong individual performances and quick sprinters, earned a season of 5 and 5. Some athletes attended districts in Fitchburg: Joanna Kotze for high jump, Jon McCumber for the 400 meter, Brandon Rigoli for the 300 meter and Laura Kanniard for the 800 meter.

Coach Harhen looks forward to improving this year's record. And improving we will continue to do, as long as we remember that to win you must have the most desire. You have to want it more than your opponent, and you can never let up.

The 1992-1993 Golf season was both challenging and enriching for both its new and experienced players. Through the careful instructions from our devoted coach, Mr. Pizza, our games took shape and made playing all that much more enjoyable. The team was always hard at work. When they weren't playing hard at the home course in Berlin, they could be found driving strong at Kimball's driving range. Although much of the team was made up of younger players, it had no affect on their spirit when it came time to compete. Eighth graders, Adam Terella and Chad Nixon, veterans of the team, often proved to be critical assets, and led the team to many close matches. Even though the record may not have been as strong as they may have liked, all team members enjoyed the season, and the team will be back next season to drive Littleton High all the way home.

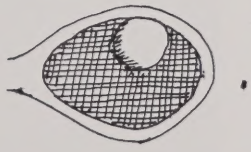
"Successful season—we made the district tournament!

Coach Marr



Although our scores were lower than we had wanted, they didn't reflect the successful season that the tennis team had. The matches were tough and well-played, not only by the experienced team members, but also by new players. The team will always remember the time that Heather Dennehy, playing number one singles, momentarily forgot which court she was playing in and joined the girl from Ayer. She still has the scar on her knee! The team is also proud of Heather for qualifying for the individual District Tournament and for winning an All-Star Award. At number two singles, Julie Tratnyek constantly kept the team laughing. Her great sense of humor and bright smile were always appreciated . . . and she started the season with mono! We will all miss Birgit Kraan. She did a marvelous job playing number three singles and always had something amusing to say. The doubles teams worked well together. Karen and Jenn, the "dancers", at number one doubles, never let the stress of a game get in their way. Tanya Smith, Colleen Graham, Deanna Ducharme, and Sarah Yapp were all able to adapt when Mr. Marr had to adjust the number two doubles team. Whenever there was a chance of sunshine, Colleen was prepared with her famous zinc oxide. Sarah Yapp and Deanna Ducharme quickly moved up to varsity. They played exceptionally well considering it was their first year. All of these individuals created a well-balanced and hard working team. Our long practices and coaching from Mr. Marr resulted in our qualification for the District Tournament.

Rich Zolla runs down field with the ball. For the season Rich rushed 1376 yards, the highest in the area, gaining him a running back berth on the All-Stars along with teammates Sean Partridge, Eric Rivas, Todd Ehwa, Mike Crory, and Michael Anderson.

Tigers, on the sideline, get psyched for the game. The newspaper headlines said it all this year: "Tiger football is on a roll"! Total yardage for the '93 team was 2879 yards, the highest in the last eleven years!

What a season! From their first win to their final game on Thanksgiving Day, they kept fans and press on the edge of their seats and coaches on their toes. This season's great improvement can be contributed to two things: hard work and talent.

With a season of 6-4, the Tigers sent six players to the All-Star team: junior Rich Zolla (running back), junior Sean Partridge (center), junior Eric Rivas (kicker), senior Todd Ehwa (linebacker), senior captain Mike Crory (defensive back), and junior Mike Anderson (offensive lineman).

Other key players included Matt Cerullo with a total of 47 tackles, Jeromy Rivas whom Rich Zolla followed through the hole, and Steve Wright who played defensive back as well as quarterback, just a great all-purpose player.

Just as stats and players were impressive, so were the headlines: "Pelham the latest victim of Littleton," and "How 'bout that football team? 'Gansett gets mauled" to "It's a big deal for Littleton." And it was a big deal, indeed. The '93 team left the whole town as well as the school proud of their one, only, and best Littleton Tigers.

"Unbelievable!

Coach Turner

For the first time in Littleton history, the Boys' Varsity Soccer team went undefeated and won the Midland Wachusett League crown. Seeded first in the District State Tournament, the boys finally bowed out to eventual state champions, Bromfield.

With low expectations, the boys shocked the league by tying perennial powerhouse Groton-Dunstable in the first game of the season. Groton would provide the only serious threat to the boys' unblemished season. An unserious threat would be levied later in the season by Lunenburg, protesting Greg Roy's last second goal, which lifted the Tigers over the crying Lunenburg fans.

Led by senior captain Mike Hayes (defense) and Dave Slarskey (midfield), the Tigers excelled as a team unit. Superior season performances were turned in by League All-Stars Greg Roy (midfield), Greg Butler (keeper), and the two captains.

The future looked good for the Tigers, losing only four seniors: Hayes, Slarskey, Dave Ziegler, and exchange student Jeppe Lange. This team promised to be back on top next year.

"We maintained our confidence and had a very successful season.

The summer came to an end and the soccer team was well prepared and eagerly awaiting the start of the season. August had been filled with camps, clinics, and captain's practices. The teams captains, Senior Julie Tratnyek and Junior Kerry McDonald, did a great job of keeping our spirits up during the long sprints, drills, and scrimmages of double sessions.

Although we had an unfortunate loss in our season opener under the lights at Medway, we maintained our confidence and had a very successful season. The J.V. finished with 10 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties. However the varsity's record of 8 wins, 8 losses, and 1 tie made them the first ever Littleton Girls Soccer team to compete in a state tournament.

Unfortunately the season came to an end, but we will always have memories of pasta parties, McDonald's, and for the J.V. a spirited cupcake fight!

We'd like to congratulate the three members of our team who were selected to the Mid-Wachusett all star team: freshman Sarah McGrath, sophomore Sarah Miller, and junior Kerry McDonald.

Finally, everyone would like to thank the people who made the season possible. The J.V. coach, Perry Kellstedt, was as much a friend as a coach. The varsity coach, Mr. Blackwell, and Mr. Dungey donated their time and effort so we could all learn something about soccer.

P.S.-We'll miss all the graduating seniors- Julie, Tanya, Lily, and Karen.

"The highlight of the season was beating Gansett!

Capt. Joanna Kotze

The '93 field hockey season was one that will never be forgotten. Many players had little hope for a successful season, but surprisingly enough, the team made it all the way to the first game of the State Finals. Although this particular game ended in a loss, the season as a whole was very positive. The team was led by six seniors: Brenda Dunn, Claire Scanlan, Elizabeth Johnson, Joanna Kotze, Krystal Stevens, and Loan Pham. The '93 varsity team possessed unity, a gift that many teams in the past have lacked. The combined successes of the junior varsity and junior high teams should provide for many great successes in the years to come.

Bumps, bruises and "sneaker hickeys" are all part of being a cheerleader. Whoever said cheerleading was easy has never been a cheerleader! Cheerleading is much more than standing on the sidelines and rooting the team on. It includes long practices, coordination, and teamwork. All the girls work extremely hard to put together new, more difficult crowd pleasing stunts for each game or pep rally. Many times a stunt or routine is run through seven or eight times before being perfected. Picking up one or two people at a time multiple times can be frustrating and very tiring.

Besides the hard work, the cheerleaders show complete dedication to their players. They decorate their homes, the field, and the gymnasium, and then cheer them on through all wins and losses. Cheerleading requires team effort, team spirit, and hard work. So far the cheerleaders have shown nothing less than the best.

"How we perform as individuals will determine how we perform as a team.
Coach McAndrews

The Boys Varsity Basketball team was faced with many a challenge in their 1993-1994 season. Faced with a 3-18 record from the previous year, the Tigers were out to prove that they were better than their past performance. Everyone played with great enthusiasm and excitement, showing their desire to make this season a winning one. Senior Michael Crory led the way at forward for the Tigers while Kevin "Shaq" Anderson was often unmatched at the center spot. Steve Wright controlled the ball at the point guard position, along with Brian McDonnell and Rich Zolla. Seniors Mike Hayes and Todd Ehwa helped control the boards while Mike Scanlan was hard at work on the defensive end of the court. Nate Long and Jim Poulin were role players in key situations. The young Tiger team saw victory early in the season winning the Paul Rocheleau Memorial Tournament. All in all, the Tigers experienced great success on the court this season.

"The victories we won were not necessarily reflected on the scoreboard but rather in the girls' attitudes and understanding of the team concept.

Coach Corkum

Under the helm of new coaches, Shawn Corkum, Paul Harhen, and Dan Moriarty, girls' basketball underwent a transitional year. New drills were introduced as were new offenses and defenses in order to try to bounce back and improve from past seasons. Everyone encountered the changes with enthusiasm and hard work, but most remembered will be the "thousands" of questions asked in hopes of understanding each intricate play at hand (right, Coaches?).

Although at times the scoreboard looked bleak, the team's desire and spirit remained intact. From the freshman program on through to the varsity team, this enthusiasm was evident. As the season slowly progressed, improvements could be seen in many facets of the game. It will only be a short time before these improvements generate a much-deserved winning season. Ending the season with a win against Lancaster bodes well for the '95 team. Best of luck to the teams in the future - from those moving on!

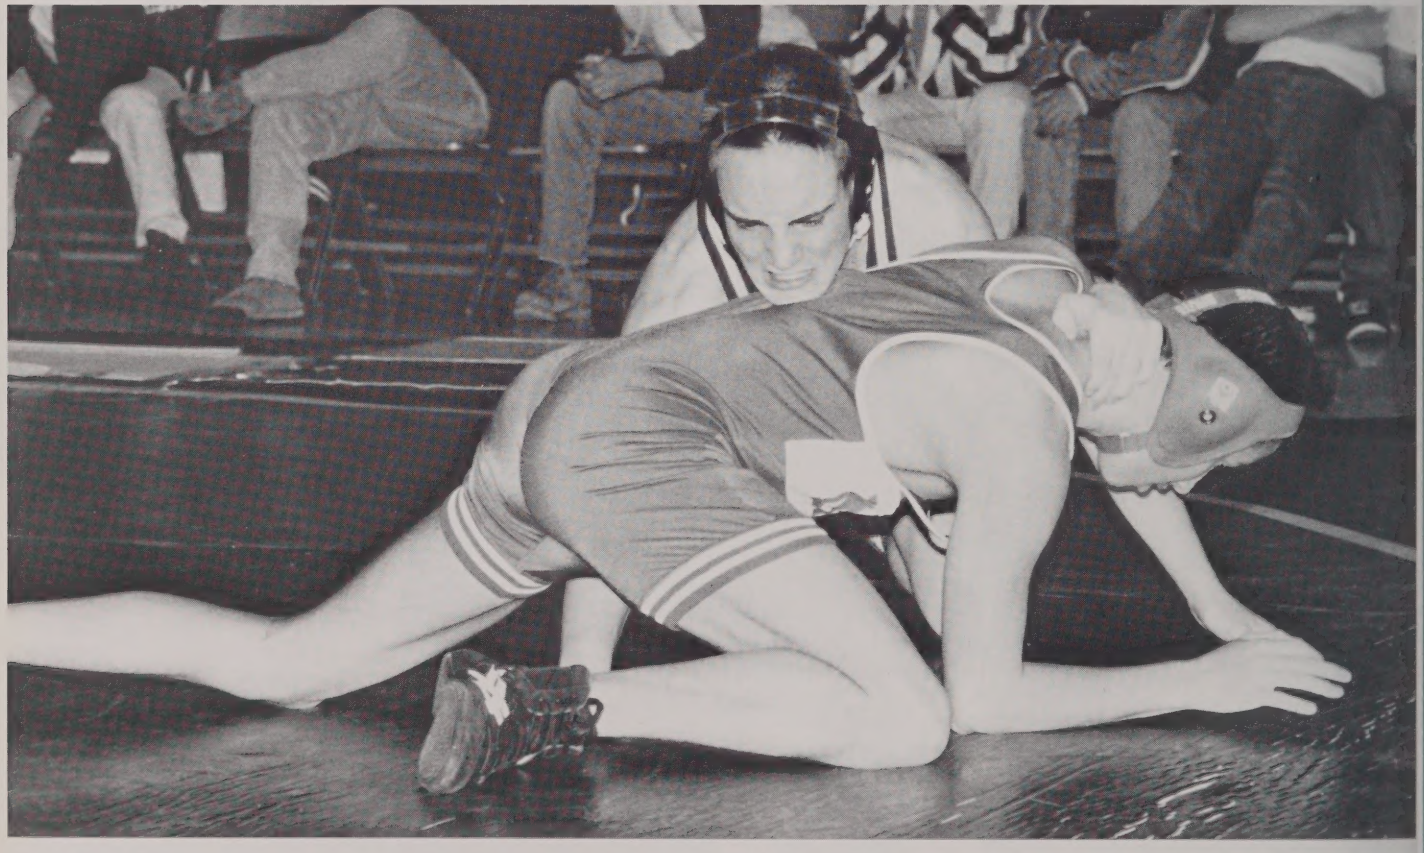
Mike Zolla struggles to get his adversary into a half nelson.



Many people don't know what exactly goes into a day wrestling practice. It starts with a run around town, en it's onto the mat for over an hour of push-ups, sit-os, hit-its, stairs and an excercise called spins. Then s on to technique drills and then actual wrestling. hen it's all over, three hours have passed and three ounds of water weight have been lost. You don't ow why it's worth it until you win your first match of e season, then it all seems well worth while. Wres-ng is a grueling sport with many rewards, bursts of drenaline, and an amazing sense of accomplishment. This year the Littleton High Wresting Team competed gainst Division I schools having nearly four times the umber of students as Littleton and a big interest in restling. The results were amazing: two dual-meet ctories and one tie, placing fourth, in a tournament of rge teams, placing six of the nine competing wres-ers. We started the season with seventeen wrestlers nd a first year coach. At one point in the year we had enty-one wrestlers but in the waning days of the ason took the mat with just seven! For most of the ason Littleton filled just six of the thirteen weight asses and had lost the mat by forfeit points before it en began. Still, the small group of dedicated athletes ok the mat each day to improve their wrestling. The am is happy to see the growing interest in wrestling nd would like to thank all the people that came out to e our matches.

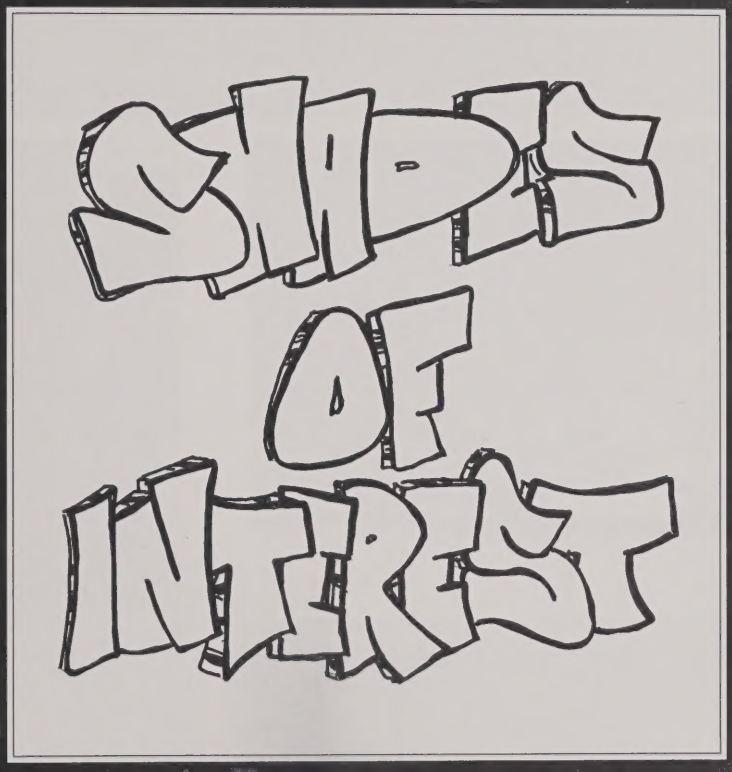
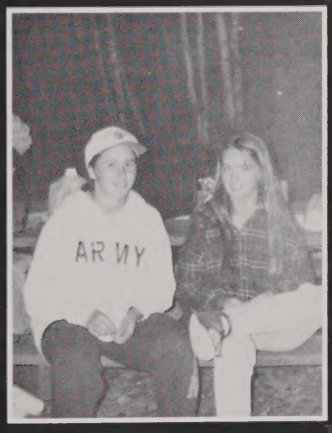
Captain Jeromy Rivas has just succeeded in breaking down his competition.

At the Peer Leadership Retreat Greg Bottenhorn clings to a tire while reaching for the next obstacle to conquer in the new ropes course program at Camp Takodah.

CLUBS





At the Outdoor Club Overnight, Rachel Clifford and Kate Carson wait for the next event.

The clubs and activities that take place at LHS are here because of the wide variety in interest. Littleton has about twenty different clubs and activities that hold meetings and organize school activities everyday! The clubs, for the most part, experience learning as well as the responsibility and fun of fund raisers which raise money for their club or for charities. The importance of clubs and activities is to provide the opportunity for students to pursue interests while learning responsibility. In this section members of each club will be pictured.

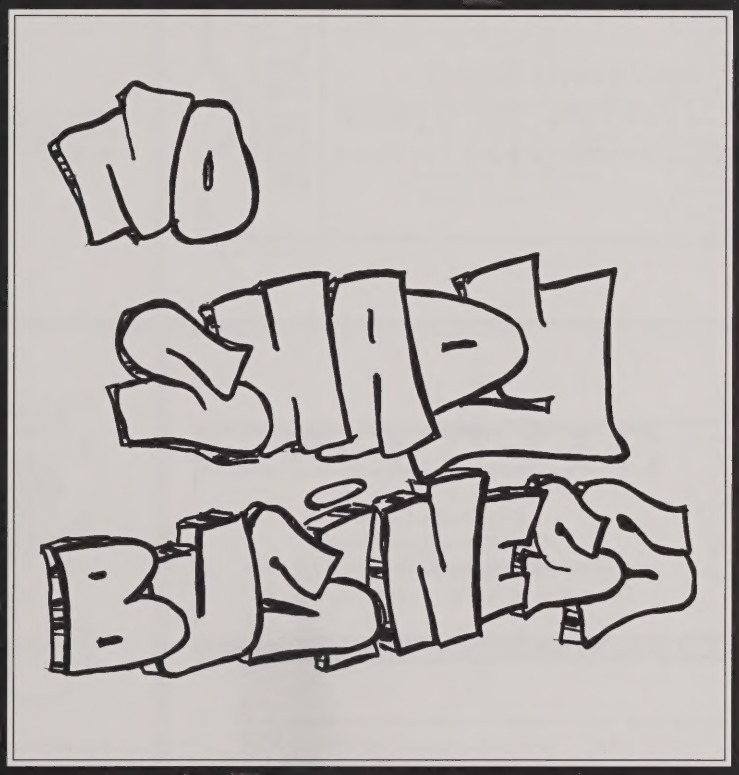
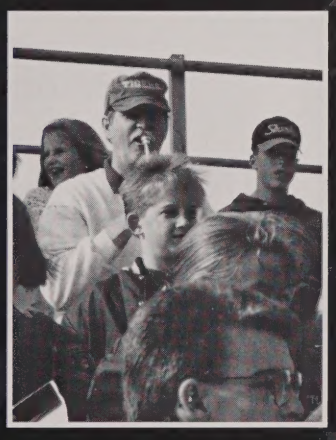
THANK YOU FOR BUYING AMERICAN

Thanks to advertisers, National Honor Society scholars Heather Dennehy, Liz Johnson, and Claire Scanlan were able to find their pictures in this book. Without our advertisers, there would be no yearbook! Thank you, everybody!

CLASSIFIEDS





Mr. Foley demonstrates his true dedication by playing with the band at Saturday games.

Many students this year went from business to business to sell ads to raise money for the 1994 yearbook. The cost of a yearbook is outrageous and without the support and dedication year after year from the businesses around the Littleton area, there would be no yearbook. Many thanks to the businesses, sponsors, and patrons who have supported LJSHS in this and past years. Hopefully the ad section will come in handy when looking for a pizza place or a florist or any occasion. Again, thank you for you support!
